Are you ready for warm weather? Down To Earth Garden Center is just the place. You can almost feel the warmth of the sun just by visiting the website. The gardening tips will send you digging for your trowel, searching for your sketch book. Why not jump in the car and experience the possibilities in person?

Down to Earth Garden Center began as a family's dream to spend quality time together working in the incredible outdoors. More than a decade later, this dream has become an award-winning business, with a heart for the customer. Down to Earth Garden Center is a spa for the senses, one of the most amazing garden centers in the Chippewa Valley.

The beautiful, healthy plants are a feast for the eyes. The outdoor antiques, rustic sculptures and architectural elements take you back to a simpler time. This place simply inspires creativity with natural fieldstone, waterfalls, fountains, retaining walls, mulches, pavers, ponds, lighting and more for the do-it-yourself-gardener or the backyard-hammock-dweller.

Down to Earth Garden Center melds the highest horticultural standards with landscape designers who have a passion for their work. Quality materials and advanced equipment are important, but the difference here is our people. Whether it is planting a tree, installing a water feature, or reworking your backyard into a garden oasis, the crews at Down to Earth Garden Center keep your needs in mind.

The outdoor antiques, lush plants and professional services await your arrival. Not an outdoor enthusiast? Visit the gift shop for sweet treats and amazing accent pieces for inside your home.

Down To Earth Garden Center builds homes too. Imagine reclaimed lumber and tin, old farm house sinks and antique doors in your next remodel or new home. The possibilities are endless.

It's time to weed!

Pull weeds from your beds and borders before they have a chance to take hold and spread.

CONTAINER GARDENING

If you have little or no space for a traditional garden, then container gardening is your best bet. Container gardens can also be a charming way to embellish your patio, entryway or deck. Although container gardens generally require more watering and feeding, they are quite easy to maintain and care for. Container gardens are also a great solution if you are considering an herb garden as they can be placed near the kitchen or in a kitchen window box. Stop by Down to Earth this Spring to get some great container ideas or pick up a pre-made container or basket and save some time. Container gardening workshop is May 9th & 16th and is free to the public!

Now is the time to Plant!

Spring is a great time to add new plants to your garden. Be sure, however, that all threat of frost has past. Plant such things trees, shrubs, hardy annuals, and summer blooming bulbs.

Spring Clean-up

Spring is the perfect time of year to top-dress your mulch and clean up any debris left over from last Fall. Make sure that all of your perennials are cut back adequately and look over for any obvious disease problems. Applying a light topdressing of slow release fertilizer in the Spring is also a good idea to give your plants what they need throughout the growing season. Taking these simple steps now can save you time this Summer when you should be out enjoying your backyard!
